Travellers who moved on to former school site insist they have no other place to go

A GROUP of travellers who have set up camp on the former Passmores School site in Harlow have insisted they have no intention of moving.

The travellers moved on to the land at Tendring Road - which is owned by Essex County Council - more than three weeks ago. County Hall is currently taking action through the courts to have them removed.

But Patrick Donovan, a traveller who has spent most of the past 22 years in Essex, said this week they would not be leaving Harlow as they had nowhere else to go.

"We have ground in Epping and we have been in Epping for years," said 47-year-old Mr Donovan. "However, we could not get planning permission time and time again which is why we are now in Harlow."

"We have nowhere else to go. We are not going anywhere; we are not leaving Harlow."

"The police have been very obliging, they have never given us any problems. The councillors have also been round and we have had no problems with the residents. We do clean up after ourselves and take things to the tips."

BIANCA CASTRO

Mr Donovan added: "We are humans like everyone else and we just want a place to go. We understand residents but we do need to have a place to go to. We have nowhere at the moment."

ECC served a court summons on the travellers on Tuesday ahead of a hearing scheduled for today (Thursday).

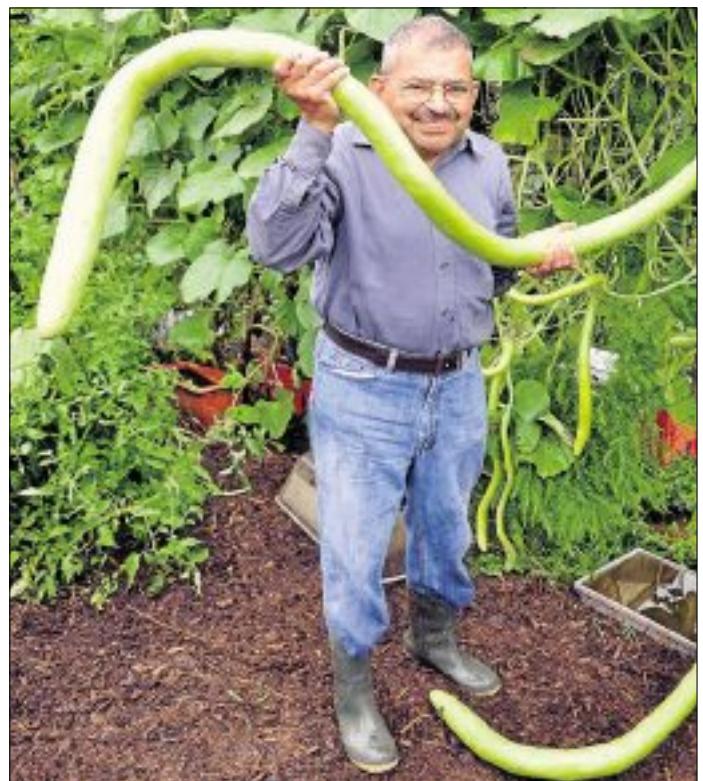

A spokesman said: "They were issued with a direction to leave notice but, having failed to comply with this, an application was made to the courts to repossess the land and move them on."

"Court summons were issued on Tuesday ahead of a hearing scheduled for Thursday. We anticipate the travellers will move on the issue of the court order although, based on recent experience with this group, there is a strong likelihood that this will be to another location/s in Harlow."

Essex County Council manages 12 traveller sites throughout the county providing a total of 186

Good gourd almighty! Surinder's mega marrow is a real handful

A RETIRED teacher has grown what he believes could be one of the longest marrows in Britain.

- Surinder Chaudhry, 74, works on his allotment in Commonside Road, Harlow, for three hours every day and has produced several Italian marrows ranging in length from 5ft (1.5m) to 9ft (2.7m) long.

- Keen gardener Mr Chaudhry said: "I grow lots of different things and I'm always interested in doing something different, but I did nothing unusual to these."

- "Somebody gave me six or seven plants which I planted and looked after but I never expected them to grow so long."

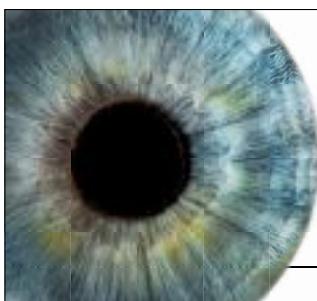

Have you grown any super-sized fruits or veg? If you have, tweet a photo to @HarlowStar or post a picture on our Facebook page

The longest Italian marrow I have is about 9ft."

Mr Chaudhry, who taught in Harlow for more than 25 years before retiring, added: "When I was a teacher I was dedicated completely to my job and didn't do as much gardening, but I have always had an interest in farming and in gardening."

Back in 2010 retired factory worker Alberto Marcantonio made headlines when he grew an Italian marrow measuring 63in (5.3ft). At the time it was believed to be Britain's longest marrow.

A spokesman for Guinness World Records said: "We would certainly welcome an application from Surinder."

pitches. Harlow Council provides the most, with 44 pitches at Pinnacles and Fern Hill Lane.

On Saturday a group of people from Harlow visited the encampment at Tendring Road to demonstrate their support for the travellers. One of them, Adam Cochrane, told the Star: "Opening the paper and looking online to see all the comments about the traveller community, there seems to be very little from them."

"When I see a group of people attacked my first thought is how I can help them. I spoke to [the travellers] and one of the reasons they are in this limbo is because they were kicked off land they own in Epping."

"This traveller 'beating' has been going on for a while and it's not fair."

A spokesman for Harlow Trade Union Council said: "We are dismayed at the frenzy of recent anti-traveller media coverage over unauthorised encampments in our town."

"We call upon councils throughout Essex to provide permanent and transient pitches to satisfy the Equality Act 2010 and to placate criticisms of the UK raised by a 2011 report from the United Nation's Committee for the Elimination of Racial Discrimination."

"We also voice our concern at the conduct of our town's MP, who has made high profile comments urging police to take tough action against travellers."

He added: "Of course Harlow TUC and the local community are concerned about anti-social behaviour on unauthorised encampments, but the root causes of today's problems are discriminatory gypsy and housing policies over many decades that have created a shortage of pitches."

"The one saving grace is that it appears Essex Police are more mindful of equality legislation than councillors or MPs."

Lucky Lola is given a new lease of life

A FAMILY OF dog owners who stepped in to save a deformed puppy after it was about to be put to sleep are appealing for help to pay towards the cost of life-changing surgery.

French bulldog Lola was born in March with abnormalities to both front legs which prevented her from walking normally and left her in a permanently stooped position.

As a result she has had to undergo numerous surgeries and this week began a programme of extensive physiotherapy at the Royal Veterinary College in London.

Chantell Mapp-Pope, husband James and children Harry, 15, and Tara, 13, rescued the six-month-old pooch from death after her owner decided to have her put to sleep.

Nazeing vet Amir Kashiv from Vets and Pets had refused to put the pup to sleep and asked Chantell if she would take Lola.

Chantell, 37, of The Drive, Harlow, who has other rescue dogs, said: "We are all dog lovers and have three other dogs."

"Lola needed extensive surgery to give her a happier, more comfortable life."

"The surgery was very expensive but anyone that meets Lola falls in love with her. We just wanted to have her fixed and be able to give her a lovely life."

The bill for Lola's x-rays and surgery total almost £8,000 and that does not include the cost of any physiotherapy.

Chantell added: "It is a long road to recovery but hopefully at the end it will give Lola a good quality of life."

"We need to raise as much of this money as we can. Although we set a target of £1,000, anything more than that will be greatly received."

"It will be a long recovery before she is making use of her fixed legs but it will so lovely to see her stand up and walking."

Support and donations have already been rolling in from across the area. A fundraising campaign on the crowdfunder website Yimby has so far raised £1,465, with donations ranging from £5 to £500.

That campaign ends in seven days. To donate, visit www.justgiving.com/yimby/lolaslegs.

READERS LETTERS

There's nothing wrong in flying our national flag

SIR I cannot believe how badly Robert Johnson missed the point about the cross of St George (Letters, August 7).

Whatever its origins it is our national flag. It stands for England.

In recent years Harlow has endured a tidal wave of immigration which, understandably, concerns many lifelong residents hence the surge in UKIP votes locally.

We have seen the emergence of events such as Black History Month and, this year, Africa day. This is not a bad thing but if Harlow is to remain the safe, friendly town I grew up in (and I fear it may be too late) it must make everybody feel welcome and included... including the largely ignored English.

What is wrong with flying our national flag to remind us that Harlow is still part of England? Do we need two Union Jacks flying in the town centre? Or the hated EU flag?

We recently read letters in the Star urging us to separate local and national issues when voting, but it seems that both locally and nationally the Labour Party is anti-English.

So Mr Johnson misses the point and is out of touch. Surely a job in the Labour Party awaits.

Jack Etman
Longbanks, Harlow

Rewriting question was an abuse of officers' powers

SIR Some 25 years ago I was instrumental, with others, in initiating questions from the public to be addressed to councillors at their meetings. It remains one of the few public imports into council policy making.

The vast majority of councillors had failed to acknowledge let alone reply to two copies of a letter I sent them regarding the dangers to local democracy revealed by the abysmal turnout at this year's local election. I, therefore, put forward a question to the last full council meeting asking councillors if they realised that such lack of response merely confirmed the view of two-thirds of the electorate that voting for them was a waste of time.

My question had to be first sent to council officers. The question they eventually presented in my name to council consisted of only three words of my own. They had removed 15 lines of mine and added 14 of their own.

At the council meeting I asked for an inquiry into how council officers thought they had the power to make such alterations and what this abuse of power revealed about the culture of the council and the relationship between officers and members. In other words, who actually runs this council? Those we elect or those we pay large salaries to advise?

I am informed that the changes were made to my letter to be helpful. To whom?

The real question is not why council officers rewrote my question but how they had come to believe they could carry out such a misuse of power and get to cost much. There are some little ones that can fit in a handbag or even on a keyring.

There are even ones available that have a panic alarm button.

The streets do not have to be no-go after dark. People just need to use some sense.

name and address supplied

Enjoy night sky without a constant orange glow

SIR Having followed the ongoing debate in the letters pages of the Star about the turning off of street lights, I thought it time there was some opposing arguments to the current train of thought.

As hard as I have tried I find little evidence to support the apparent explosion in crime since the turn-off. The figures I have found through the UK crime statistics show very little variation and in fact since the period from spring into summer when the nights got shorter there were some anomalies regarding types of crime.

As you would expect, most crime is committed in the town centre.

Of course we can all cite instances of violence and anti-social behaviour but can we say for certain that darkness is the major contributing factor.

It is a fact that all over the country lights are now shut off at night in towns, on motorways and on major A roads.

I, for one, quite like the peace and quiet that the darkness seems to have brought to the town and being able to see the night sky without the overpowering orange glow of street lights.

Lack of disabled-friendly homes is unacceptable

SIR I would like to draw the attention of your readers to the plight of many disabled people who face the misery of living in Victorian conditions.

Leonard Cheshire Disability has recently found that thousands of people across the country are being forced to wash at their kitchen sinks, sleep in their living rooms or use commodes because their homes are not disabled-friendly. This is simply unacceptable.

There is a severe lack of disabled-friendly housing in the UK. One in 10 people has a mobility problem yet only five per cent of homes are built so that disabled people can visit with any degree of comfort, let alone live in them.

As more and more of us become disabled and we live longer, this hidden housing crisis is a timebomb for the future. We want every council in the UK to make sure that all new homes are built so they are easy to adapt if people become disabled.

We also want 10 per cent of large developments to be fully wheelchair accessible to give disabled people the opportunity and support to live independently.

I urge Star readers to sign our petition for more disabled-friendly homes and share their own experiences at leonardcheshire.org/hometruths.

Thank you for filling our day with love

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE parents of a young Harlow boy who died a month before his seventh birthday have thanked the hundreds of people all over the world who shared their hearts in an online celebration of his life.

Harry Ellis, a Year 2 pupil at Latton Green Primary School, passed away last month after being diagnosed with a rare type of brain tumour.

To mark what would have been his seventh birthday on Sunday, a group of more than 50 parents organised a Hearts for Harry campaign and asked people to share photos of hearts on social media site Facebook.

This week Harry's parents - Matthew and Jennifer, of Rundells - left a message of thanks on the Hearts for Harry page.

Mrs Ellis, 32, wrote: "So much love, so many hearts. The words 'thank you' really aren't enough. Harry's grandparents have been looking at the hearts all day long."

"I had a peek at the hearts on the morning of Harry's birthday. I was feeling so strange, How can it be August 24 and yet Harry is gone?"

"I won't lie, it was yet another level of sadness. But those hearts, those beautiful hearts mean his life wasn't a waste. I am going to go to sleep tonight [Sunday]. I'm actually really tired for the first time since December 31, 2012."

"Thank you for filling our day with love. You are all such magnificent people to have done so much for Harry and us all."

FLASHBACK: From last week's Star

SHARE A HEART FOR HARRY

THIS week the Star is calling on its thousands of readers to remember the young Harlow boy whose family would have celebrated his seventh birthday on Sunday.

Harry Ellis, a Year 2 pupil at Latton Green Primary School, died last month after being diagnosed with a rare type of brain tumour.

He would have been seven on Sunday.

To mark his birthday, a group of parents and friends of Harry's from all over the UK and abroad have joined forces to organise a Hearts for Harry collection of the youngster's life.

Organisers - Matthew and Jennifer - are asking people from around the world to take a photo of a heart or hearts and upload it to the website www.heartsforharry.com using the hashtag #heartsforharry.

Jennifer, 32, said: "His birthday is on Sunday, so we thought it would be nice to do something special for him. It is unnatural that he was born on the same day as his best friend, Jen.

"As a parent it is incomprehensible to see your child go through such pain. The pain is so intense; it is an emotional roller coaster.

However, our friends, family and community have come together and hearts for Harry means that something positive has come out of such a tragic happenings on his birthday."

Cricketers given the go-ahead for new clubhouse

HARLOW Cricket Club has been given the green light to build a new clubhouse at its ground in Old Harlow.

The plans for a replacement building and the creation of a vehicle access and parking area were approved by members of Harlow Council's development management committee last Wednesday.

Cllr Maggie Hulcoop said: "Access is much better than it was before and the clubhouse will have more of a community use now because it is bigger and encourages residents to attend the different functions held there."

Cllr Tony Hall added: "The club and ground have been there since the year dot. They have to move on like all successful clubs and this is a real community club."

"What we have before us now is some excellent work from the planning officers and the club working together. It is great for the club and for Harlow in general."

Some members of the committee voiced their concerns over the loss of a hedgerow which currently separates the two pitches at Chippingfield.

However, the application said this will be replaced with three new areas of native planting.

The committee voted unanimously in favour of the club's plans.

Lettings agency celebrates anniversary with big party

A PROPERTY lettings agency celebrated its 20th anniversary by holding a community street party in Harlow town centre. Guardian Residential Lettings and Sales, which has offices in Adams House as well as branches in Epping, Sawbridgeworth and Bishop's Stortford, staged the event in Market Square on Saturday.

It featured a bouncy castle, raffle, cupcake stand, live music and employees in stocks being pelted with sponges.

The party raised almost £400 for the neonatal intensive care unit at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

"We had about 100 people enter our competitions" said Mike Coleman, a partner at Guardian. "We'd like to thank everybody who turned up to join in."

Since it first opened in December 1994 Guardian has grown and now has about 750 properties on its books.

Halfon continues to press for free hospital parking

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon said this week he will continue his campaign to scrap the NHS stealth tax of hospital parking charges.

Welcoming the Government's announcement at the weekend that relatives of chronically ill patients must be given free or reduced-rate parking, he insisted charging should be axed altogether in the future.

Patients with disabilities and those with frequent appointments, as well as staff working shifts, will also benefit from the shake-up announced by Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt at the weekend.

Under the new reforms, hospital trusts will be told to waive fines when an overstay is beyond the control of the driver, such as treatment taking longer than planned. Hospital trusts are also recommended to use 'pay on exit' schemes so visitors only pay for the time they have used.

Mr Hunt said the new guidelines for hospitals in England had been drawn up to put an end to the stress of unfair charges.

It follows a campaign spearheaded by Mr Halfon to highlight the damaging effect excessive charges have on patients and visitors and how they should be cut. He raised the issue at a meeting with the Prime Minister and Mr Hunt last month.

Mr Halfon started his campaign after receiving complaints from constituents, branding charges a stealth tax on the sick.

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A report drawn up by Mr Halfon found that 79 per cent of hospitals in England charged patients and visitors to park on site. The average charge for one hour nationally is £1.56 and £39.49 per week, but it can be as high as £4 for one hour and more than £500 for one week's parking.

Drivers visiting Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital currently pay £3 for the first three hours, £4 for up to six hours and £6 for all day parking. However, free parking is available for people visiting End of Life Care Plan patients and those receiving chemotherapy.

Writing in the Star when he launched his campaign in June, Mr Halfon said: "I believe we should follow the examples of Scotland and Wales and scrap hospital parking fees. This would cost £200m but the money could be raised by using more generic drugs rather than more expensive alternatives."

He said this week: "This is a massive step forward but the hospital car parks have got to treat patients fairly. I think these charges should be scrapped in the future but this is an important step forward."

"I want to thank residents of Harlow for flagging up this issue as I wouldn't have begun campaigning to get charges scrapped if it were not for them writing to me."

Quiz to raise cash for cancer charity

A MUSIC quiz, auction, raffle and disco will all be held at Canons Brook Golf Club in Harlow to raise money for Cancer Research UK.

Claire Taylor, of North Weald, decided to organise the event in memory of her father, David Allwood, who died from the disease last year.

"I've never done anything like this before but I thought a music quiz would be good," said 41-year-old Claire. "I went to one not long ago and it was really enjoyable."

She has persuaded two local business to sponsor the night. Easton Sheet Metal Ltd, based in South Road, Harlow, has covered the cost of hiring the venue while Flower Boxed in Old Harlow, will be paying for the night's entertainment.

"I've spoken to Barclays Bank which has chosen my event to champion so they will match fund anything I raise up to £1,000, which is great," Claire added.

The quiz night will be held at the golf club in Elizabeth Way on Saturday, September 6 from 7pm. Tickets are £7 for adults and £2 for children and can be bought on the door.

To donate to the charity visit www.justgiving.com/claire-taylor58.

Tournament time at sporting club

PARINGDON Sports and Social Club, in Paringdon Road, Harlow, joined forces with Active Essex and Harlow Council to host their first rounders competition.

Various teams including Specsavers, Harlow Council, Raytheon and the Harvey Centre went head-to-head in a series of challenges to win prizes.

The event was organised to encourage businesses to become more active.

Paringdon's fitness manager Liz O'Hare said: "This event was very successful and it was a great evening. We got involved in the rounders tournament to help bring colleagues in the workplace together and get them active."

"We also work with Hub and Spoke Cycling shop in Bush Fair promoting fitness through cycling and they take out groups on Wednesdays and Saturdays."

Company's help for kids charity

A COMPANY has raised £200 for children's charity Kisses4Kids after a staff member experienced the charity's work first-hand.

AutoProtect, which has been based in Harlow for 10 years, decided to raise funds for Kisses4Kids after claims engineer Adrian Whyard, 25, of Nursery Road, Bishop's Stortford, nominated the charity to be the company's fundraising focus.

Kisses4Kids trustee Sara Evans said: "The donation was a lovely surprise, and will go towards supporting other families who deserve a treat."

Family fun day at Pets' Corner

PETS' Corner in Harlow Town Park will be holding its annual family fun day and dog show on Sunday.

The event, which will be opened by former EastEnders star Joe Swash, runs from 11am to 4pm.

Anyone willing to volunteer to help on the day should contact Friends of Pets Corner on Facebook.

Dentist to use his skills in Cambodia

A DENTIST at a Harlow practice will be travelling to Cambodia to offer his services to people who cannot afford treatment.

Raj Mahendran, pictured above, has worked at the Addison Dental Practice in Hamstel Road for 12 years. He said he always wanted to do something to help those less fortunate.

"The charity Dentaid has organised the trip," said the 37-year-old. "What we are able to do will be limited to simple fillings, taking teeth out if they are causing problems and basic dental surgery."

"There is little or no access to dental care in this part of the world which can mean enduring lots of pain with no hope of relief."

He added: "I'm a bit apprehensive, it will be a lot of work but I'm looking forward to it. I've always wanted to do something like this. A few years ago I did a half marathon and I've done a trek to Peru but it's the first time I've used my work skills like this."

Raj is also raising funds for Dentaid to provide materials and equipment for the trip as well as basic items such as toothbrushes. To sponsor him visit <https://mydonate.bt.com/fundraisers/>.

School pals set up charity to aid children in need

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A GROUP of five pupils at a Harlow school have joined forces to set up a charity that will help various good causes.

Emily Obasohan, 14, decided to start up We Run This Thing after helping her brother, 17-year-old Brandon, who is disabled.

The Year 10 student at Passmores Academy chose four of her friends to help her sit on the panel of We Run This Thing. They meet regularly to decide what causes they will support to help disadvantaged children and which fundraising activities they should organise.

The charity aims to raise funds to help children around the UK as well as further afield. Emily is joined by friends Anya Hennessy, Shadi Amor, Brooke Evans and Olivia Turner on the panel which is supervised by Shelly Edwards.

Emily and nine-year-old Joshua Osei will also be climbing Ben Nevis as the charity's first fundraiser to raise money for hospitals and hospices caring for children with cancer.

"I decided to start We Run This Thing because I like to help my brother, and I wanted to help more people," said Emily. "I had a few ideas and it started really small but it's turned into this massive charity which is really exciting."

The charity has set itself a target of raising £4m by the end of December. "We have a lot planned," said Emily.

The group has already gained the support of Crystal Palace footballer Dwight Gayle who has agreed to become the patron for the children's charity.

"I'm looking forward to the Ben Nevis trek," Emily added. "Joshua wanted to do something and I wanted to support him and be there for him. We've been training really hard; it's my first time in a gym actually."

Paul Appiagyei is part of a small team of adults who have volunteered to help with administrative duties for the charity.

He said: "We Run This Thing will be the first charity in the UK to be run by children with the aims and goals to raise funds in order to increase children's life chances and to support them to achieve and attain their full potential."

"We hope to empower children and young people by giving them a sense of independence and ownership as they plan and make decisions to help their peers."

Record turnout for Town Park festival

THOUSANDS of revellers enjoyed a weekend of music at Harlow's LinkFest.

Music fans descended on Harlow Town Park for the free event on Saturday and Sunday organised by Jamie Pring.

Jamie told the Star it was the event's largest turnout with thousands of people attending over the two days.

He said: "I've had fantastic feedback about the bands and the original stuff on Saturday went down really well."

"All the bands had a great time and really put on some amazing performances. On Saturday, Rock School again gave some great performances, then Scooby, Dawgfish and Lipstick Torpedo all topped off the night."

"Sunday's turnout was even better and again all the bands played out of their skins building up throughout the day from Steve Forward, Portland Avenue, The Big Loud Monster Band, Anthem, Archive building up to the biggest dance-off the park has seen in many a year thanks to Sax On Fire."

He added: "Big thanks to every single volunteer over the weekend, the food and stall outlets, the GPCA and bar, the sound guys, our comperees and sponsors who backed us."

Pupils celebrate their success

PUPILS waiting nervously for the results of their GCSE exams were put out of their misery on Thursday... and every school in Harlow reported an improvement this year.

Burnt Mill Academy students smashed all previous records with a total of 86 per cent achieving five or more A*-C grades including English and maths and 25 per cent gaining five or more A* and A grades.

Headteacher Helena Mills said: "We knew we had a great group of students but with recent education reforms we had a very slight concern about what the results might be."

"Our children and staff work incredibly hard. All of my staff are in school at 7am offering extra revision and study opportunities and students come in to Saturday school to strive for their absolute best."

Katarina Sucikova, who spoke very little English when she joined the school two years ago, picked up five A* grades, one A, two Bs and a C. "The teachers have been really kind to me," she said. "I struggled to understand in my lessons so I got a lot of books to do extra study at home.

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"It was not just the language; I came from a school with just 20 students so there was a lot of change for me. I feel great about my results."

A total of 78 per cent of pupils at St Mark's West Essex Catholic School achieved five or more A*-C grades and 58 per cent gained five or more A*-C grades including English and maths. Nineteen pupils achieved at least five A* or A grades, 74 pupils gained at least one A* or A grade and 55 pupils successfully passed the English Baccalaureate.

Headteacher Elaine Heaphy said: "I am delighted that the hard work of our Year 11 pupils and their teachers has been rewarded with such a good set of GCSE results. I am proud of every pupil in accepting and meeting the challenges that we at St Mark's continually strive to provide for each of them."

Outstanding students include Wing Lau (11 A* and A grades), Katie Day, Thomas Robinson and Ashica Joshy (10 A* and A grades) and Melissa Selwood (9 A* and A grades).

Stewards Academy pupils achieved their best results ever with 60 per cent gaining five A*-C grades including English and mathematics.

Assistant headteacher Marie Erwood said: "We are all thrilled with the results and it reflects on all the hard work of staff and pupils to achieve the best results we have ever had. It is great news, and we're delighted for all of our pupils."

Star achievers included George Strachan, who achieved 15 A* and one A. He said: "I am so pleased to have done so well, especially when there are so many changes to education going on."

"It just goes to show that every year things are getting harder for us pupils, but I would say to younger pupils to always strive to do the best that you can do."

Passmores Academy also celebrated a success-year with an eight per cent improvement on 13's results. Sixty per cent of students achieved one or more A*-C grades with English and maths and 68 per cent received five A*-C grades.

One of the school's star pupils was Sreerag Dakrishnan, who gained 12 A* and A grades. He said: "Passmores has really set me up to achieve my dream of going to Cambridge University. Although we were pushed hard to achieve we were always given the chance to play sport, sing, design new things and know what it is to be part of the community and a family."

Principal Vic Goddard said: "I am delighted that our results are up eight per cent on last year but, if an honest, comparing one group of young people from previous years doesn't really mean anything. The thing I am most proud of is that so many of our students beat their target grades at the same time as becoming well rounded human beings with the understanding what it takes to be good members of our community."

Mark Hall Academy principal Corinne Franceschi said she was "over the moon" with the school's results which showed overall achievement is up by 12 per cent on last year.

At the end of the school's first year as an academy a total 38 per cent of pupils achieved five A*-C grades including English and maths and 45 per cent received five A*-C grades.

Ms Franceschi said: "I am proud of the commitment and perseverance shown by staff and students in beginning this journey of transformation and much-needed revitalisation.

"We are particularly pleased with the considerable improvement in boys' achievement - which we know is a national issue - up 15 per cent from the previous school's results and we are very close to reaching the best ever results attained by the previous school."

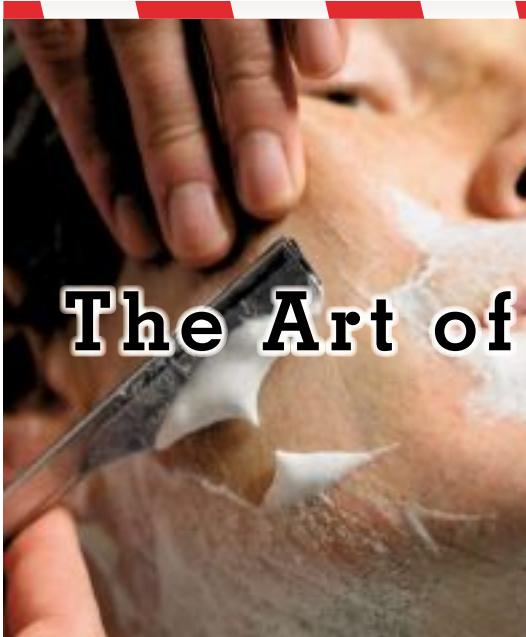

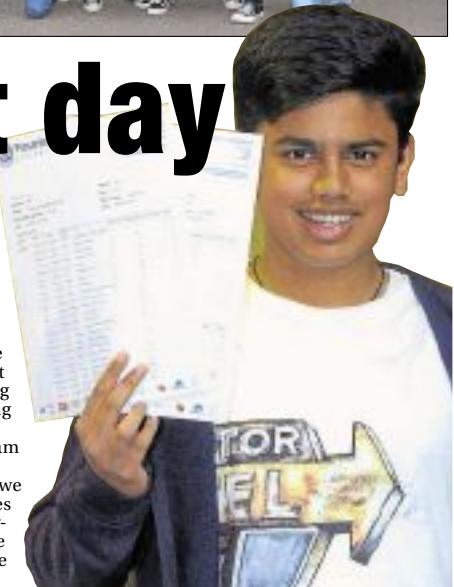

The academy's high achievers include Adam Cutts (one A*, six As and three Bs), Henry Brown (four As and four Bs), May Showumi (three A*s and four As) and Charlotte Taylor (seven As and three Bs).

Pupils at the independent Saint Nicholas School in Old Harlow also achieved excellent results, with 74 per cent gaining at least five GCSEs including English and maths - a 10 per cent increase on last year.

Star students included Imogen Wade (five A*s and 6 As) who scored 100 per cent in each of her four history modules making the 16-year-old one of the highest scoring candidates in the country.

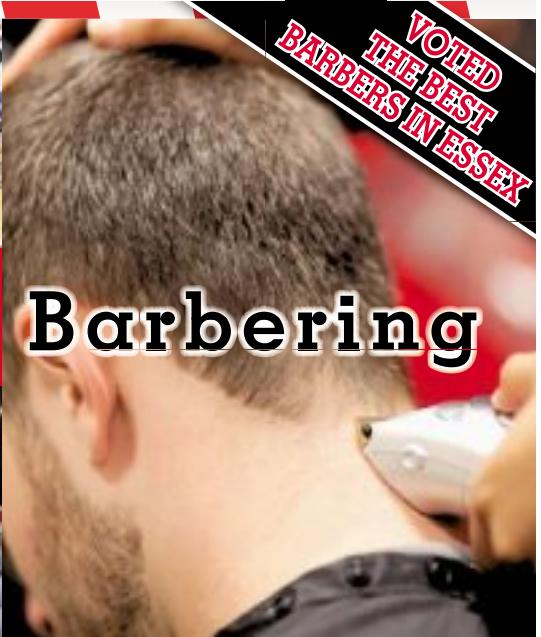

Headteacher Keith Knight said: "I am delighted with the strength of our results. "As a broadly non-selective entry school we are rightly proud of our pupils' successes which are a tribute to our dedicated parents, staff and pupils who have a positive attitude to work and are prepared to give all that it takes to be successful."

Stalker branded 'a dirty old pervert' by victim faces prison

COURT REPORTER

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

was there and then later approached her.

"On September 19 he followed her to Princess Alexandra Hospital and when he walked past her she told him to go away," said Mr Bird. "He seemed to be changing direction to go towards her."

"On March 31 he followed her to the gates of the hospital saying 'I love you'. On July 9 he approached uninvited. She told him to get away and he carried out the assault."

Mr Bird said there had been no 'signals' from her as had been suggested by the defence and she had only taken photos to identify him.

Later the victim made a statement to police saying he was making her "very anxious".

Sarah Steggles, representing Collins, said in mitigation: "He interpreted the photos wrongly. He thought she was interested in him and the elbow incident occurred after he took a gift to her workplace and she told him he was a dirty old pervert."

Miss Steggles said when Collins had first seen the woman in the card shop he was attracted to her.

AN area of woodland in Harlow has been awarded a Green Flag for the sixth consecutive year, confirming its status as one of the best green spaces in the country.

Parndon Wood Nature Reserve is one of 1,476 parks and green spaces to receive the award from environmental charity Keep Britain Tidy.

The Green Flag awards are judged by an army of more than 700 volunteer experts, who visit sites and assess them against eight strict criteria including horticultural standards, cleanliness, sustainability and community involvement.

The woodland is maintained by Harlow Council and volunteers with local organisation ECCO managing the conservation centre and running community activities.

Council leader Jon Clempner, said: "This is an excellent achievement. To carry on achieving such high standards year-on-year is testament to the hard work of our officers, the many volunteers who help maintain the reserve and ECCO.

"Every year hundreds of children and families take part in community events organised by ECCO, which plays a vital role in improving people's health and wellbeing."

"This award recognises and highlights that people in Harlow continue to benefit from a green open space of the very highest quality."

GP boost for cancer patient care and support

SUPPORT for cancer patients in Harlow and Epping Forest has been boosted by the appointment of a Macmillan GP.

The charity Macmillan Cancer Support will work closely with West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group and the GP over the next two years to identify areas for improvement and provide more supported care in the community.

As well as continuing their day job as a doctor, the Macmillan GP will be responsible for liaising with other GPs in the area to promote ideas for improvements and ensure on-going programme of education.

Christine Moss, clinical director at West Essex CCG, said: "This is an excellent result for patients and means people in west Essex affected by cancer will see more confident, responsive community care."

"Working closely with Macmillan is one of the ways the CCG is collaborating with other organisations to provide better joined-up care for patients."

Tatyana Guveli, Macmillan development manager, added: "We are delighted to be working in partnership with West Essex CCG and look forward to seeing the benefits this new position will bring to local people."

Former teacher is world's oldest man

A FORMER teacher in Japan has been named the world's oldest man at the age of 111 years.

Sakari Momoi, who was born on February 5, 1903, was presented with a certificate from Guinness World Records.

Mr Momoi was born more than 11 years before the start of the First World War. When he grew up he became a teacher and in 1928 he was married and had five children.

He currently lives in a nursing home in the Japanese city of Tokyo where he enjoys reading and watching the sport of sumo on television.

"I want to live for about two more years," he told reporters.

The oldest living woman – and currently the world's oldest living person – is also Japanese. Misao Okawa was born on March 5, 1898 which makes her an incredible 116 years old.

But even she has still some way to catch up with the oldest person ever to have lived. French-born Jeanne Calment was 122 years and 164 days when she passed way on August 4, 1997.

Dedicated charities pick up nominations for Heart 4 Harlow community awards

THERE are just a few days left to nominate outstanding members of the community for a Heart 4 Harlow Awards.

Harlow Street Pastors is one group to have been nominated.

The group has helped more than 302 people find their way home, administered First Aid to 182 people, collected off the streets and safely disposed of 1,718 bottles and glasses, comforted and provided a listening ear to 979 revellers on the streets and provided 57 space blankets to severely cold and sometimes hypothermic individuals.

The person who nominated the group for an award added: "Harlow Street Pastors have literally saved lives in our town."

"Harlow Street Pastors is manned entirely by volunteers who are prepared to go out at the most unsocial time in all weathers to patrol our streets, backed up by volunteers on prayer watch at home or in the Harlow Street Pastors base. They certainly do have a Heart 4 Harlow which deserves recognition."

Also nominated for an award is disability charity Accuro.

This year the Harlow-based charity is celebrating 30 years of providing services to young people and adults in the west Essex area.

Nominating the charity, one resident said: "Support is offered through a range of groups, activities, short breaks, advice and peer support.

"All the activities are aimed at promoting the inclusion and aspirations of people with a disability, improving life and social skills and developing positive relationships with others.

Accuro currently provide a shared care service, a holiday scheme, youth groups for under 19's and adult friendship schemes which include a walking group, cooking group and community gardening project."

The awards, which are across a number of categories – private sector business, public service, education, voluntary and charitable sectors – will be presented to the winners at a ceremony to be held at the Manor of Groves Hotel in High Wych on Thursday, October 9.

Suggested nominees can include good neighbours, successful businesses, commendable schools, worthy charities, community projects and servants of the town.

Awards organiser Rev Robert Findlay said: "Who do you suggest deserves a mention of appreciation in the Harlow Star for the contribution they have given to the town?"

"Describe what they have done in 200 words. Add your name and theirs and contact details for both of you."

Nominations, which should include contact details about the individual or group, the category and a few lines about why they deserve to win, should be emailed to admin@heart4harlow.org.uk before the closing date of August 31.

of those also on Stammer School and is still in contact with the students including Mushy.

"I made friends and keep in contact with all the people that were on the show especially with Mushy and Vicky Croft. I had help from so many people, and there are a lot of people who are part of the programme, I was overwhelmed with it."

"A stammer cannot be cured but it can be managed and the McGuire Programme is one of the ways many people can benefit from the techniques to help improve a stammer."

Tom will also be attending a refresher course in Wembley.

>> Stammer School starts on Channel 4 tonight (Thursday) at 9pm.

"I had the opportunity to email a TV producer and then had to go through a very long application and take part in recorded interviews before I got the call asking if I wanted to be part of the show," said Thomas, pictured right. "I was really nervous to be on the show, I never thought I could do something like that."

He decided to take part not only to improve his stammer but also to raise awareness of the problems faced by people with a stammer.

"Overall, I feel I have got a lot out of it," he said. "I was really nervous as they make the course really intense so you have the opportunity to jump in and make use of what they provide to you."

"People sometimes do not know how to react when you have a stammer."

"I am proud to be a stammerer but I sometimes kept myself to myself and found that people would not let me finish my sentences and things like that."

"Now I know I can fully embrace the technique taught on the McGuire programme and I can encourage my stammer to be worked on more."

The intensive course was held in Croydon where Thomas and his fellow stammerers were taught the breathing technique used by opera singers and given a coach to help them through the programme.

He added: "It was a four-day course and it was really intense. I nearly passed out on the second day, it took so much out of me."

Tom, who said he is proud to be a stammerer, made friends with many

2,700 names on scammers 'suckers' list

COUNTY consumer watchdogs have issued a warning after the contact details of almost 3,000 people were discovered on a so-called "suckers list" used by scammers.

The list, which was passed to the Essex Trading Standards unit by colleagues from another county, issued by tricksters who use the names and addresses to con people out of money.

As well as a list of about 2,700 names and addresses of potentially vulnerable residents who fall for scams, the team was given about 200 completed forms with cheques, cash, postal orders, stamps and credit card details – including security codes.

The money was attached to prize draw applications and orders for confectionery special offers. The forms were found in a PO box used by known scammers.

Clr Roger Walters, Essex County Council's cabinet member for trading standards, said: "Unfortunately we know that this list is just the tip of the iceberg. Residents who respond to scams often will not tell family, friends or neighbours. This is partly because it almost becomes an obsession."

"It is difficult to persuade someone who has been responding for years that the prize draw, the scam lottery, the 'today-only' offer, the vouchers, the promise of a holiday or whatever else is not real."

"Residents should never respond to mailings relating to prize draws, lotteries, or other products or services which request personal information, or money for administration fees."

Essex Trading Standards is returning all the money to the people who sent it, with advice about how to avoid scams. The team will also contact people included on the list to warn them about scams and give advice about how to avoid them.

Carry chairs to be fitted to ambulances

A NEW piece of equipment which will virtually eliminate the need for paramedics to lift patients into ambulances is being rolled out across the East of England Ambulance Service.

EEAST is one of the first trusts in the country to use the new carry chair which will allow patients to be lifted into ambulances fitted with tracks to roll up and down stairs.

The carry chairs are fitted on all new ambulances and will be rolled out across the region as more replacement vehicles are introduced.

Staff are currently receiving training on how to use them.

EEAST health, safety and security manager Danny Daniel said: "This kit is about making it safer and more comfortable for patients and staff.

"We asked staff about what they thought was best for their patients as they are the ones who do this work every day. We want to reduce risk for everyone."

Map guides way to town's art treasures

THE third edition of a map guiding art lovers around Harlow's collection of sculptures is now available.

Works by Henry Moore, Barbara Hepworth and Rodin are among the 84 works on public display throughout the town.

Copies of the map, which show the location of all the pieces and the routes of suggested sculpture trails for people to follow, are available from the Gibberd Gallery in the Civic Centre at the Water Gardens.

It can also be downloaded from the gallery's website at www.gibberdgallery.co.uk.

THURSDAY Tonight's headliners are Max Raptor, a Midlands four-piece who fuse classic British punk attitude with an astute sensibility for a balsy riff, forthright narrative and infectious hook-fuelled chant. The band having spent the last year touring, playing live and writing and recording material are now preparing for a UK tour in October. Support comes from Canadian neo-nerd rockers Double Experience who are currently on a three-week tour of the UK to promote their new album 721835. Admission is £6 (£5 members) and doors open at 8pm. The show will be followed at 11pm by DJs Dave Davies (Trax) and Dave Sims (Nucleus) playing some of the best in funk, hip hop, dum 'n' bass, old school and Afrobeat. Admission is £4.

SATURDAY Essex rockers Trash Monroe have built up a solid reputation in the south east since they were formed by vocalist Melany Dantes and Dave Bradbury back in 2003 and have been featured in such publications as Kerrang, Alternative, Devolution and Metal Hammer. Sharing the bill will be alternative rock/popsters Alexa De Strange. Tickets cost £5 in advance and doors open at 8pm.

Learn the ropes of circus skills

CIRCUS, theatre and dance come to Harlow Playhouse this week with two performances of the show Rime.

Based loosely on the epic poem The Rime of the Ancient Mariner by Samuel Taylor Coleridge, it tells the story of a groom-to-be as he approaches his wedding.

Blending aspects of circus and dance, the show was co-commissioned by the National Theatre and devised by the Square Peg Contemporary Circus.

When it was performed for the first time at The Roundhouse in London more than two years ago it was a sellout. It has also been part of the Edinburgh Fringe Festival and the National Theatre's Watch Space festival.

Artistic director Tim Lenkiewicz has 15 years of experience in circus and trained at London's Circus Space and

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

the Kiev State College for Circus and Variety Arts.

His work combines circus, dance and technology to create powerful theatrical narratives.

In March, Square Peg embarked on their first large tour of the show which arrives in Harlow tomorrow (Friday) for an 8pm performance, followed on Saturday with a matinee show at 2pm.

Show producer Flora Herberich said: "Audiences can expect an up-close and intimate experience of astounding circus skills, a mix of heart-stopping and exhilarating routines."

"They will feel like they are going on a journey with the ship's crew and experiencing their trials and tribulations on the open seas."

As well as the show itself, the artists offer people a chance to get involved in the action and find out what it takes to be a circus performer.

Friday's show will include a free post-show discussion on combining circus with narrative theatrical performance.

After Saturday's performance the company will be holding a circus workshop during which there will be the opportunity to try out acrobatics, aerial rope and Chinese poles. It is suitable for people aged 11-21 and spaces are limited to a maximum of 25. Appropriate clothing must be worn and a good level of fitness is an advantage.

>Tickets for the Friday and Saturday shows are £12 (£7 concessions). The cost of a combined ticket for the show and circus workshop is £17. To book, call the box office on (01279) 431945 or visit www.playhouseharlow.com.

CHILDREN Izzy, wizzy let's get busy - Sooty, the nation's favourite bear, is celebrating his 65th year in showbusiness by embarking on a UK tour. Joined by his chums Sweep, Soo and show host Richard Cadell, he will be heading for Harlow on Sunday to star in The Sooty Show Live in which the gang get caught up in a wonderful world of magic, mischief and mayhem. Whether it's children discovering the characters for the first time or adults reliving their own childhood with their little ones, The Sooty Show Live is a fantastic family event. There will be two performances at 11am and 2.30pm; ticket prices range from £11-£13.

FAMILY Following a four-week run at the Vaudeville Theatre in London, Wizard Presents will be bringing its adaptation of Michael Morpurgo's enthralling children's tale I Believe In Unicorns to Harlow for a performance at the Parndon Wood Nature Reserve. It tells the story of Tomas, a young boy who loves playing outdoors but hates school, books and being dragged to the library by his mother. One day his world is turned upside down when he meets the Unicorn and the Unicorn Lady and is spellbound by their story. With his newfound love of books, Tomas becomes instrumental in saving his burning library when his village is devastated by war. The performance takes place at 2.30pm on Sunday, September 7 and tickets cost £6. The show is suitable for families with children aged 5-11.

The small music festival with a big personality

THERE aren't many festivals where you can be listening to heavy metal one minute and then take a few steps to chill out to some gentle folk music.

However, that is just what music fans can do this weekend at Wilkestock, the three-day charity festival taking place near Stevenage from tomorrow (Friday) to Sunday.

The event was started by the Wilkes family in 2006 to raise money for two causes close to their hearts - Leukaemia and Lymphoma Research and Keswick Mountain Rescue. Co-organiser Tom Wilkes' uncle, Malcolm, died of cancer and his brother Matt was killed in a climbing accident.

What began as a small, intimate gathering of 30-40 people now draws crowds of about 1,500. "I think this year's going to be one of the biggest so far," said Tom. "It could be a sell-out."

"It takes months and months to set up. It's me, my brother [Oliver] and my dad. We take a month off work in August to do it."

Wilkestock presents audiences with a wide variety of musical genres. "We're going for all types of music bar classical - from folk to hip hop to reggae."

"It's a real mix between local, national and international acts. We try and spot bands before they're big. We had Bastille a couple of years ago before anyone knew who they were."

And what of the this year's line-up? "There's [indie/r'n'b group] Pixel Fix who are up and coming," says Tom. Also performing are hip-hop/r'n'b artist Ms Dynamite, folk singer Beans on Toast, who played Standon Calling earlier this month, Rage Against the Machine tribute act Enraged and Chas Hodges (of Chas and Dave fame).

This year also sees the opening of the Rising Bam dance tent, playing everything from jungle to 50s disco. There is also an open mic stage, cinema at the Bramble tent, comedy and the usual stalls to peruse.

Wilkestock takes place at Frogmore Hill, near Stevenage. For ticket details visit www.wilkestock.com.

Gallery launches poetry competition to mark First World War anniversary

A POETRY competition to commemorate the centenary of the start of the First World War is being run by the Gibberd Gallery in Harlow.

Entries can be in the form of a piece of written work or spoken word and there are three age categories - under 12s, 12-18 years and 18 years and over.

The winners from each category will have their poems read at a special event being held at the gallery in the Civic Centre on September 20 as part of its forthcoming Lest We Forget exhibition, which runs from September 4 to October 3.

There will be prizes for the winners and runners-up in all three categories.

Poems should be sent to The Gibberd Gallery, Civic Centre, The Water Gardens, Harlow, Essex CM20 1WG by September 14 or emailed to gallery@harlowarttrust.org.uk.

How to stop patio plants going to pot

By Hannah Stephenson

Alternatively, once your summer annuals in pots are truly spent, plant up a cool mix of autumn stunners, combining flowers and fruits with ivies and other hardy foliage plants. Include colourful ornamental kales and cabbages, heucheras and cape heath and, when the weather really cools down, shelter displays as much as possible to keep them frost-free.

Chrysanthemums, which went out of fashion for years as they have a reputation for being time-consuming and needing tender loving care in the greenhouse, have improved. There are many varieties which come into their own in the autumn, producing masses of flowers from August until November, including C. 'Mei-kyo', a pink variety.

Hopefully the hardy pansies and violas should last right through autumn until the beginning of winter. All this should be complemented with eye-catching evergreen foliage plants as well as spring-flowering hardy primroses, polyanthus

ON THE WEB
Gardening tips and news

www.harlowstar.co.uk

and winter-flowering heathers.

If you're planting up containers in autumn, don't forget to add some bulbs which will give you colour from late winter through to spring. The bulbous Reticulata irises flower in late winter and early spring and, being mainly blue, combine effectively with white and yellow Crocus chrysanthus cultivars.

Dwarf narcissi such as 'February

'Gold' and 'Tete a Tete', also brighten up spring planters, as do snowdrops and grape hyacinth, while tulips will carry the flowering season into late spring. Pint-sized blue Scilla siberica can be used to fill in around the base of deciduous pot-grown shrubs but also make good plant partners for dwarf, early flowering daffodils and Wanda hybrid primroses.

Cool planting schemes might feature purple, pink and silver, combining ornamental cabbages with white cyclamen, purple-leaved heucheras such as H 'Cajun Fire' or 'Shanghai' and silver foliage plants such as Cineraria 'Silver Dust'.

Ornamental grasses such as carex and festuca can also be added to drape over the edge of containers to add both colour, texture and movement.

And don't forget to use berries to brighten any patio display, from Callicarpia bodinieri 'Profusion', whose lilac flowers in summer precede pinkish autumn foliage and masses of dazzling purple berries in winter, to the winter cherry (Solanum pseudocapsicum), whose shiny orange-red berries will last several months.

Another great plant to include in autumn and winter pots is the Skimmia japonica subsp. Reevesiana which produces long-lasting clusters of bright pillar box red berries in winter, nestled among dark evergreen leaves. This evergreen shrub goes on to produce deliciously fragrant white flowers in spring.

The end of summer doesn't have to signal the end of colour on the patio. With a little imagination, you can be enjoying your containers well into autumn and beyond.

Healthy eating is all about keeping it simple

BACK in 2012, Eleanor Ozich was a full-time mum, who indulged her passion for food by posting her recipes and pictures for friends on Facebook.

Now, just two years on, she's a published author with her very own cook book and a second on the way. And she's just opened a cafe called Mondays in her native New Zealand.

More importantly, her daughter Izabella no longer suffers from eczema which was so severe and sore it used to keep her awake crying at night.

Eleanor was simply a distraught mother searching for a cure for her child, but in the process she's transformed the lives of her whole family and sparked a new, exciting career path.

"Izabella started to develop eczema when she was about two years old, although it was not until she was about three that it began to worsen significantly," explains 25-year-old Eleanor, who also has a two-year-old son, Obi. "After countless visits to doctors and specialists, nobody could shine a light on her condition, nor explain the impact it had on her behaviour. We were prescribed artificial creams and medication which would only ever temporarily fix the problem."

In despair they eventually took Bella to a naturopath who diagnosed what she called 'Gut and Psychology Syndrome'.

"It's an imbalance of bad gut bacteria, causing toxins, which was resulting in the eczema and her extreme mood fluctuations," said Eleanor. "At the time this revelation made complete sense to us and we were completely willing to heal her gut through removing wheat, grains, sugar and anything processed from our diets."

She was so committed that she started charting her attempts to cook without using those ingredients in a blog which she named Petite Kitchen (www.petite-kitchen.com). "At the time, we were living in a tiny apartment with a cute little kitchen," she notes, explaining the name.

It wasn't always easy. "With Izabella being so

Two of Eleanor's recipes to try yourself

SWEET POTATO, CARROT & CASHEW SOUP (serves 4)

3 large orange sweet potatoes, peeled and roughly chopped
3 large carrots, roughly chopped
1.5-2L vegetable or chicken stock
2 garlic cloves, peeled
2 handfuls of toasted cashew nuts
Sour cream, creme fraiche or plain yoghurt, to serve
Extra virgin olive oil, for drizzling (optional)
Sea salt and freshly ground black pepper

Put the sweet potato and carrot in a stockpot or large saucepan and cover with the stock. Bring to a gentle boil, then reduce the heat and simmer for 30 minutes or until the vegetables are tender and the liquid has reduced slightly.

Leave to cool for five minutes, then transfer to a blender, one ladleful at a time. Add the garlic and most of the cashews, reserving some nuts to garnish the soup. Blend until smooth, then season to taste with sea salt and freshly ground black pepper.

Gently reheat the soup and ladle into bowls. Top with a dollop of sour cream, creme fraiche or yoghurt and the reserved cashews. Serve with an extra sprinkling of black pepper and a drizzle of olive oil if desired.

LAMB LEG STEAKS WITH MINT & APPLE CIDER SAUCE (serves 2)

2 large organic lamb leg steaks, each weighing about 300g and about 2cm thick, at room temperature
2-3tbsp olive oil
Sea salt and freshly ground black pepper
For the sauce
60ml apple cider vinegar
2tbsp honey, or maple or agave syrup
1 large handful of mint leaves
Sea salt and freshly ground black pepper

Sprinkle the steaks with a good pinch of sea salt and freshly ground black pepper, then rub on both sides with the olive oil. Set aside.

To make the sauce, put the vinegar and honey in a small saucepan over low heat and bring to a gentle boil. Remove from the heat, then add the mint and a pinch of sea salt and freshly ground black pepper. Stir well, then cover with a lid - this helps the flavours to really mix together.

Heat a chargrill pan or frying pan over high heat. Cook the lamb for three minutes on each side for medium-rare. Leave to rest for five minutes. Carve the lamb and serve drizzled with the sauce.

and her husband Valentin's, health too. "We noticed a huge shift, not only in our emotional wellbeing but also the physical changes were wonderful. We felt clear-headed, full of energy, and generally like we had a new lease of life."

She thinks part of the reason some of us struggle with healthy eating these days is information overload. "There's so much conflicting information out there. How do we really know what is good or bad when we are constantly being bombarded with information telling us what we should or should not eat?

"I believe it's all about keeping it simple," she adds. "Use basic, everyday ingredients that your grandmother would have used. Eggs, good quality meat and seafood, plenty of good fats such as butter, nuts, coconut or avocado, and plenty of fresh fruit and vegetables."

Eleanor's new book, My Petite Kitchen Cookbook, features 100 mouth-watering recipes, all illustrated with her own beautiful photographs.

young at the time it was really hard for her to understand why we were eating a different style of diet," said Eleanor. "It did take a lot of hard work and determination, there were times where we felt as though we were hitting a brick wall.

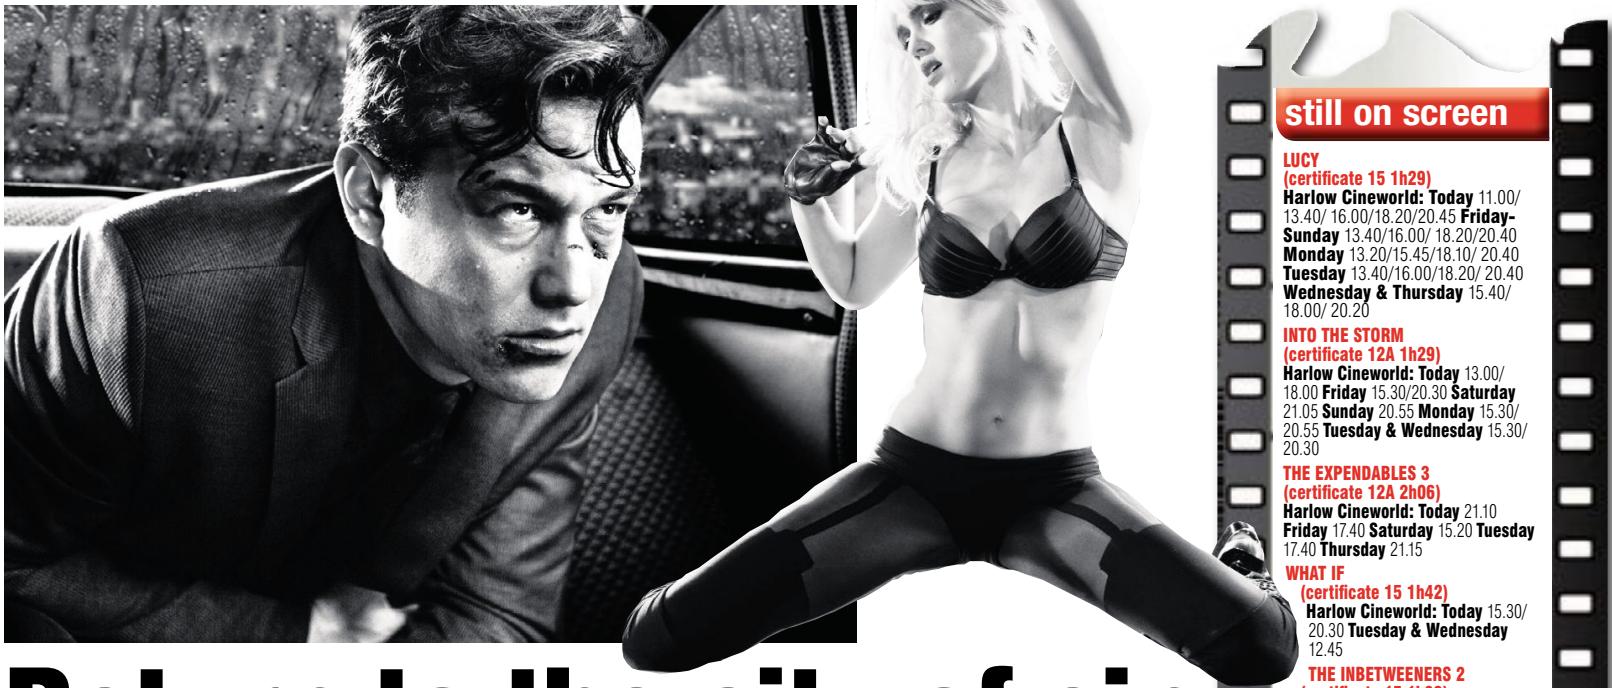

"Looking back, I am so incredibly glad that we worked through it, as the positive changes we have noticed not only in her skin and behaviour, but also in our own wellbeing, are just incredible."

Izabella, now 6, is a very happy, content and balanced little girl. "She is able to concentrate far better, loves learning and her skin has almost completely cleared up. She also has a huge passion for food, and has a great understanding of how the food she eats not only tastes delicious but is nourishing her in many wonderful ways."

The diet also transformed Eleanor

Return to the city of sin

SIN CITY 2: A DAME TO KILL FOR certificate 18 1h42m

Crime pays handsomely in this visually arresting sequel to the 2005 neo-noir anthology based on Frank Miller's comic series.

Blessed with the same black-and-white aesthetic, Sin City 2: A Dame To Kill For is as twisted and depraved as its predecessor, festooning every frame with corrugated cops, gun-toting hoodlums and scantily clad molls.

Lurid splashes of colour temporarily draw the eye away from the misery, degradation and mutilation as directors Robert Rodriguez and Miller linger on the darker side of human nature. Be warned, this film wears its 18 certificate as a badge of honour.

Once again, three stories entwine on the godforsaken streets of Sin City.

The ghost of police detective John Hartigan

(Bruce Willis) haunts exotic dancer Nancy Callahan (Jessica Alba) who is desperate to put a bullet between the eyes of scheming Senator Roark (Powers Boothe). She manipulates her protector Marv (Mickey Rourke) into taking down the politician and his goons, regardless of the consequences.

Meanwhile, cocksure gambler Johnny (Joseph Gordon-Levitt) and his lucky charm Marcie (Julia Garner) prepare to take on Roark at the poker table. Johnny humiliates his powerful host and suffers horrific consequences.

Nearby, Dwight McCarthy (Josh Brolin) struggles to rein in his violent impulses following an encounter with old flame Ava Lord (Eva Green).

She begs Dwight to help her escape the clutches of her sadistic husband Damien (Marton Csokas) and his hulking bodyguard Manute (Dennis Haysbert), but the plan goes awry and Dwight turns to old flame Gail (Rosario Dawson) and avenging angel Miho (Jamie Chung) to help him evade the cops (Christopher Meloni, Jeremy Piven).

Arriving almost a decade after the first chapter, Sin City 2: A Dame To Kill For plunges headfirst into a grimy universe where a bullet to the head settles most arguments. Style pummels emotion into submission and snappy dialogue from the comics enhances the feeling that characters talk at not to each other.

Rodriguez and Miller direct set pieces including a car chase and sword fight at a breathless lick, melding heavily stylised live action and animation for each orgy of violence.

Green sheds her inhibitions to play an archetypal femme fatale with lip-smacking gusto, enforcing what we already knew from the first film: the female of the species is far deadlier than the male.

LET'S BE COPS certificate 15 1h44m

Former pro football player Ryan O'Malley (Jake Johnson) and videogame designer Justin Miller (Damon Wayans Jr.) are dreading their college reunion party. They turn up dressed as police officers, wrongly believing the party to be fancy dress, and make a swift exit.

But on the way home the two roommates notice that members of the public treat them with respect simply because of their bogus uniforms and the men use this newfound self-confidence to track down the perpetrators who crashed Ryan's car.

The friends are giddy with excitement but Justin knows what they are doing is wrong. However, Ryan buys a police patrol car off eBay and persuades Justin to slip back into the uniform so they can continue their fantasy cop lives.

While in costume, the two men become embroiled in the real-life hunt for sadistic Russian mobster Mossi Kasic (James D'Arcy) and they must put everything they have learned from TV shows to good use to apprehend the hoodlum and his henchmen.

SEX TAPE certificate 15 1h34m

Cameron Diaz and Jason Segel, who previously locked horns in the raunchy comedy Bad Teacher, reunite for this equally potty-mouthed tale of a married couple who decide to spice up their sex lives by committing their amorous antics to film.

When they first meet, Jay (Segel) and Annie (Diaz) cannot keep their hands off each other and enjoy a frenetic sex life. Two children later, the opportunities for amorous one-on-one time are few and far between, so, on a rare night together, Annie suggests they make a sex tape.

However, the exhausted husband forgets to erase the video file and it uploads to the cloud and syncs to several other iPads which the couple have given away as presents.

Once Jay and Annie realise their energetic efforts are available to download to friends, family and even Annie's boss Hank (Rob Lowe), they race through the night to steal or destroy the tablets and spare their blushes.

Aries 21 March - 20 April
A playful and upbeat energy complements your focused and determined attitude to getting things done. If you have a plan and back it up with a disciplined approach, your creative skills can be part of the reason things come to a successful completion. Once you have your eye on a key goal you'll likely stick with it until the end. Call me now Aries for more news and astral advice...

Taurus 21 April - 21 May Mercury's move into Libra this week might entice you to explore options associated with health and wellness. A new book or website could catch your attention and be the catalyst for positive change. In addition, if you've been busy getting your place shipshape, leisure activities may now appear, particularly if music, art or craft-based. Call now for more news and astral advice...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
You can be a magnet for success as Jupiter continues its journey through your communication sector. At the very least, connecting with others sympathetic to your goals could not fail a supportive friend. Later, a spark of attraction may cause a stir, particularly if you get talking to someone you've so far admired from a distance. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
There's so much potential awaiting you, if you're willing to explore creative possibilities and overcome any fears linked with your self-expression. You might find that Mercury's move into Libra encourages you to use your skills and abilities in small ways at first, which might inspire you to tackle bigger challenges at a later date. ## Spacious 4-bed period home with views over village green

ORIGINALLY two cottages dating back to the Victorian era, Rose Cottage at Green Tye is now a spacious family home with delightful views over the village green.

Situated just outside Much Hadham and less than five miles to the west of Bishop's Stortford, Green Tye is a small village with a mix of mostly period houses and cottages.

Surrounded by fabulous Hertfordshire countryside, it is understandably a popular spot.

The two cottages have been joined together and added to over the years without the loss of any of their charm and character. Features such as the ornate fireplace in the sitting room and the recently installed 'tilt and turn' windows at the front of the house are superb details.

There are four bedrooms and three reception rooms. The large kitchen/breakfast room is fitted with a range of stunning wall and base units with contrasting work surfaces and elegant tiled floor.

The décor is delightfully neutral and in superb condition, with brand new carpets throughout.

There is a shared Klargestre drainage system which was installed approximately two years ago. The property is on mains water, with electricity and oil-fired heating. The house has also been rewired throughout.

There is a large driveway to the front providing parking space for three cars, and side access to a large mature rear garden which is approximately 75ft long and 40ft wide. It is fenced and has a generous size patio area.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

THERE is always plenty of advice available when it comes to tips for helping you to sell a property.

However, when it comes to buying a home - particularly in an area you may not be too familiar with - what should you look for?

The quality of education in an area has long been key when picking a place to live, but even if you don't have school-age children it can be a factor worth considering if you want to ensure your home will be easy to sell later on.

If your home is within the catchment area of a good state school it can be worth up to 20 per cent more than an identical one outside the catchment area.

We've all heard the stories of the extraordinary lengths some parents are prepared to go to get their children into a particular school. In some areas it is not unknown for parents to rent bedsits to ensure their children get places.

Transport links are another crucial factor for buyers and will generally put 10-15 per cent on the price of a property. In our local area, being within striking distance of a train station with a good service into London is much sought-after.

Equally, Stansted Airport workers need bus and rail links to get to work.

Homes with a view will hold their value because of the location, providing they are not in the path of a possible natural hazard. People want to be near water or visually appealing settings such as a golf course.

Bear in mind that if a home's setting takes your breath away when you first look round it, it is likely to do the same when you come to sell it on.

Three-bed detached for £289,995

Located at Burley Hill - a sought-after area of Church Langley in Harlow - this detached home has plenty of scope to extend, subject to planning.

The three-bedroom property has two reception rooms, a good size kitchen and a ground floor

Sonny's Comment

Scruffy's the new Smart!

There is a lot of talk and numerous TV programmes about home improvement and the benefits of presenting your property at its best when the time comes to sell.

However, if you are thinking of selling and your property is not necessarily the prettiest in the street, or perhaps it is a bit tired, needs new carpets, redecoration etc, there's no need to despair.

Indeed, fork out thousands of pounds on improvements prior to a sale is not always the right thing to do and can even be money down the drain in some instances.

The reason is that those very "Grand Designs" TV programmes that focus on home improvement have prompted many people to want to buy a property that actually needs work - so much so that we have a huge demand from buyers who are looking for a "scruffy" property!

These people have found a confidence from watching others renovate property to the extent that they want a project of their own. Properties which are structurally sound, with no damp and a good roof and window frames, but which need a bit of TLC are perfect for these buyers, who typically want to "do their thing" but without major expense, risk or inconvenience.

So before you head for B&Q you might just want to ask us along to comment on current demand if you're thinking of selling.

You might be in for a surprise and a considerable saving.

No obligation of course, just sound, straight-talking advice.

Please feel free to contact me on 01279 401907 or why not pop in for a chat.

Sonny

LAFERRARI apart, this is the most powerful car Ferrari makes and a true member of the supercar set, but how does it cope with British roads and British weather? MATT JOY finds out.

It's not very often that Ferrari will carry over lots of parts from a previous car, so much of the F12 is refreshingly new.

Under the bonnet there is a 6.3-litre V12 that without recourse to turbochargers dishes out a remarkable 731bhp, driving the rear wheels only through the latest version of Ferrari's sophisticated seven-speed dual clutch gearbox.

There are carbon-ceramic brakes to rein in the performance and clever electronic dampers, while the aerodynamics are pretty special, too; the front wings have a deep channel cut into them to add downforce. Your quarter of a million buys a reassuring amount of technology.

LOOKS AND IMAGE

The most recent Ferraris are heavily influenced by the wind tunnel, so they have a more functional look rather than being solely penned with style in mind. That said, the F12 is no less

Fact File

Ferrari F12 Berlinetta

PRICE £239,352

ENGINE: 6.3-litre petrol unit producing 731bhp
TRANSMISSION: 7-speed dual clutch driving rear wheels
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 211mph, 0-62 in 3.1s
ECONOMY: 18.8mpg (combined)
CO<sub>2</sub> RATING: 350g/km dramatic for it. The long nose and hunched-up rear lend it menacing proportions and you're left in no doubt about the performance.

In the old days, Ferraris were seen by some as purely for show, but these days there's no questioning that they're serious driving machines – particularly at this end of the family tree.

SPACE AND PRACTICALITY

By making the F12 a strict two-seater and with no pretence of trying to carry more, there's a sizeable and useful amount of space in the back.

Behind the front seats you can stash small bags and under the bootlid there's as much as 500 litres of space available, more than enough for a weekend away with you and a lucky friend.

The cabin layout is broadly straightforward, although Ferrari newbies might find the steering wheel a little challenging at first as it carries lights, wipers and indicators.

BEHIND THE WHEEL

Even in its tamest settings, the F12 is dripping with intent. Press the starter button and there's a brief whirr before a yowling flare of revs and a busy idle.

The seven-speed gearbox will operate in auto mode, leaving you free to nose the F12 through traffic, and it's surprisingly docile.

Venture out of town and you soon realise that the magnificent V12 is very eager to respond and has masses of torque. Squeeze the throttle with almost any combination of revs, speed and gear, and it will accelerate with real intent.

But to experience the F12 fully, you need to wring it past 8,000rpm, and you get an F1-inspired noise alongside sensational acceleration. Given the room it will hit 211mph and judging by sane speeds at least, it won't take long to get there.

The same goes for the handling; the steering is super-sharp and full of feel while the brakes are immensely powerful. You'll need the suspension in its softest mode most of the time on British roads though.

VALUE FOR MONEY

There's no doubting the amount of fine engineering that goes into a Ferrari, but it doesn't come cheap.

The F12 base price is £239,352 but this particular example had almost £100,000 of extras. But if you can afford an F12 in the first place you won't be questioning the value for money aspect.

WHO WOULD BUY ONE?

Clearly you need to have a few pounds in the bank to be an F12 owner, and it is a genuine car for the driving enthusiast.

Not that the lesser Ferrari models are poor relations, but the F12 is capable of reaching such highs that it would be a waste not to drive it hard on occasion.

(A1025 Second Avenue and A414, Harlow)
(Temporary Suspension of Bus Lane) Order 2014

Further to a notice under Section 14(2) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 which commenced on 19 August 2014.

Notice is hereby given that the Essex County Council has made the above order under Section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

Effect of the order: To temporarily suspend the bus lane on the eastbound carriageway of A1025 Second Avenue and northbound carriageway of A414, Harlow as specified:

Road	Description
A1025 Second Avenue, Harlow	EASTBOUND CARRIAGEWAY: From a point approximately 165 metres west of its junction with Puffers Green, east for a distance of approximately 348 metres.
A414, Harlow	NORTHBOUND CARRIAGEWAY: From a point approximately 54 metres north of its junction with the roundabout at A1025 Second Avenue, north for a distance of approximately 266 metres.

'The District of Harlow (Various Roads, Harlow) (Reserved Bus Lane) Order 2002' is hereby temporarily suspended insofar as it relates to the bus lane on the above lengths of A1025 Second Avenue and A414, Harlow only. All other restrictions will remain in force.

The suspension is scheduled to commence 24 August 2014 to 31 May 2015 or where appropriate signs are showing and weather permitting, and is required for the safety of the public and workforce while road improvement works are undertaken.

The Order will come into effect on 24 August 2014 and may continue in force for 18 months or until the works have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

Spiral Rocks as gymnasts secure medals bonanza

THIRTY-six medals were won by Harlow Gymnastics Club members when they competed at the Spiral Rocks competition in Peterborough.

The gymnasts were competing against clubs from Essex, Cambridgeshire, Devon and Northamptonshire.

In the level five Ruby competition, Ruby Still (8) won the gold medal for vault and silver medals for bars, beam and floor as she came second in the age eight event.

For the age 9-10 category, Heather Cannon (9) took the gold medal for floor plus three silver medals in vault, bar and beam. She finished first overall.

In the same competition team-mates Sadie Jessey (10) and Halle Ince (10) took second and third place overall.

Sadie achieved two gold medals for floor and bars, silver for floor and bronze for the beam.

Halle won the gold medal for beam and three bronze medals for vault, bars and floor.

Competing in the level five age 11-12 event, Tillie Macintosh (11) secured three gold medals for vault, beam and floor, as well as the silver medal for bars, finishing

In the level six Topaz competition, Maelyn McLeod (8) won the overall trophy after coming first in the age 8-9 event. She secured three gold medals for vault, beam and floor and silver on bars.

Scarlet Mcfarlane (8) won the gold medal for bars and three bronze medals for vault, beam and floor, finishing second.

Faye Andrews (9) won a further two silver medals for beam and floor. Due to an injury she was unable to compete in bars but managed to finish a respectable 15th overall.

Team-mates Bethany Porter (9), Indya Bowmaker (9) and Liberty Miller (8) finished in third, fifth and seventh places respectively in the level six age 8-9 event overall.

Scarlett Baldock (10) gained a silver medal for beam and two bronze medals for bars and floor. She finished in second place overall in the level six age 9-10 event.

Competing in the development Amethyst age 7-9 competition, Ella Bowmaker (7) finished fourth overall.

She secured three bronze medals of vault, bars and beam.

Coach Aimée Teahan said: "The girls were outstanding, their hard work and talent allowed them to shine."

Signing of Spurs Academy starlet a coup for Hawks

FORMER Spurs Academy youngster Danny Norton has joined Harlow Town as he starts on the comeback trail after breaking a leg during a trial at Championship side Derby County.

The 17-year-old Harlow right-back tried to make the breakthrough at the Rams after being released by Tottenham, only to suffer an horrific setback.

One year on and he has signed for the Hawks and hopes to make an impact with the Ryman division one north club as he uses it as a stepping stone to reignite his career and get back into professional football.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman is delighted with the club's acquisition.

"His attitude has been absolutely brilliant. He deserves to be back in the Football League and hopefully we can help him progress," he said.

"He's only a young lad but he wants to learn."

He added: "He broke his leg a year ago when he was on trial at Derby, but he has been back a few months now playing again."

Danny's father Frank played a handful of game for Harlow in the 1980s.

With Harlow about to launch its own academy, Chapman hopes to see more youngsters from the town progress at The Harlow Arena and win promotion into the first team.

"When we were in the [Ryman League] play-offs we had three under-20 players, and that's what we are really looking to do again," he said.

Chapman has been delighted with his side's start to the campaign – they are unbeaten in six and are second.

"I can't moan. Abbey was our best performance of the season so far. If you match teams with your work rate, then our quality will always come through," he said.

Being a centre-half in his day, Chapman was delighted with David Kendall's display against Waltham Abbey. "He played really well. He deserved his goal," he added.

Tricky weekend ahead for Rockets

RYE House Rockets face a tricky weekend of away matches as they look to pick up points in a bid to avoid finishing bottom of the Premier League table.

On Saturday they travel to Workington, and the following day journey to Glasgow.

A brave and battling performance came from Steve Boxall who rode despite suffering from an ankle injury as high-flying Berwick won 63-32 in the Premier League on Saturday night.

The loss means the Hoddesdon team are still looking for their first away match point of their Premier League campaign.

It was a much depleted Rye side that took to the track at Shifield Park with two guests and rider replacement due to the absence of Jason Garrity with a prior Elite League commitment, Harlow's Luke Bowen with an elbow injury and the departure of Anders Mellgren.

The Bandits showed little sympathy, however, rattling off no less than 10-5-1 as they generally controlled the first bend, and left the Rockets thanking Boxall for providing a modicum of respectability to the final scoreline.

Boxall registered with two excellent race wins – and Rye made the most of both.

Rye House team manager John Sampford said: "Tonight was all about trapping, and Berwick totally dominated us in that respect. Steve rode his guts out to try to stem the tide, although he twisted his right ankle again."

Bandits brushed aside to restore Rye House pride

Rye House Rockets ..... 58
Berwick Bandits ..... 37
(Premier League)

AFTER one of their most traumatic weeks for several years Rye House Rockets gave the home fans plenty of cheer by sweeping aside Berwick Bandits 58-37 for a much needed Premier League victory at Hoddesdon on Sunday night.

Skipper Edward Kennett once again led the way with a tremendous 17-point haul, but both Steve Boxall and Jason Garrity played important parts in restoring pride after the previous day's hammering against the same opposition.

Kennett set the tone with a Heat 1 victory over Claus Vissing and Jason Bunyan repeated the feat in the next race to establish a 7-5 lead.

A 5-1 courtesy of Boxall and Garrity extended the Rye advantage to 20-10 by Heat 6.

An eventful Heat 9 saw Garrity force his way under Kevin Doolan at speed on the fourth lap with the Bandits' Aussie falling and Garrity excluded by the referee in a shared 3-3 result.

Heat 10 also provided good entertainment for the fans as Kus passed Kennett on lap one, but was retaken soon after as Hawkins drove past Kus on the next circuit. With Steen Jensen way out in front the heat was also shared 3-3, but Rockets still had a healthy 37-25 lead.

The Bandits could still mathematically take a win so were still plugging away, with Vissing taking a tactical ride in Heat 11 which he won from the gate for six points, but Garrity overhauled David Bellego coming off bend two to restrict the Berwick advantage to a 6-3 and narrowing the gap to nine points.

A vital 5-1 for Bunyan and Boxall over Jensen and Alex Edborg in Heat 12 left Berwick floundering at 45-32.

Kennett won Heat 13 with Ritchie Hawkins sneaking up Vissing's inside off bend two to further enhance Rockets' lead.

Further wins for Garrity and Kennett sealed a satisfying night's work for the Rockets.

Boxall saw his maximum hopes dashed in the final heat of the match, but a measure of the Rockets' ascendancy was that they restricted the visitors to just two race wins – and also prevented them from gaining an on-track heat advantage all night.

Delighted team manager John Sampford said: "It was a powerful performance against very strong opposition – 13 out of 15 heat wins says a lot.

"Edward and Steve were in dominant form, and Jason Garrity would have joined them with more than the paid 11 he finished with but for an exclusion for bringing down Kevin Doolan – we argued that there wasn't contact between the two in that one.

"The rest of the side gave excellent support too. It really was a solid all-round team effort, and hopefully one that we can build on in the closing weeks of the season."

Inspirational Qadir ensures Harlow are safe from relegation

AN inspired knock of 105 not out from Imran Qadir guided Harlow to a six-wicket victory over Southend-on-Sea at Marigolds, ending any fears they would lose their place in the Shepherd Neame Essex League division one.

Harlow captain Rehman Ahmed won the toss and inserted the visitors.

Seamers Nicky Baxter and Luke Heskett picked up early wickets, but some resolute Southend middle order batting, especially from left hander Wagstaff, began to accelerate the scoring.

Left-arm spinner Tom Ryder persevered for 15 overs and got his reward as he removed Wagstaff for 54, along with three other batsmen, to finish with 4-54.

Baxter (3-55) and Heskett (2-67) were the other main wicket-takers.

After restricting the visitors to 202-9, some sloppy work in the field at the close of the innings allowed Southend to creep up to 232, before Luke Monger had Gridley caught by Ahmed Khawaja.

The pressure told early on in Harlow's reply, as Surath Bastola was bowled for a duck and Ahmed (2) followed soon after.

This brought Qadir and Ahmed Khawaja together, a pairing which has yielded hundreds of runs for Harlow this season.

Khawaja took a patient approach, scoring in singles and twos to anchor the innings.

Qadir was less forgiving, as he unleashed brutal drives through the covers and to the boundary. The former was removed for a crucial 52 by Gridley.

Wicket-keeper batsman Nino Calvino raced to 30 before he was caught, bringing Anthony Webb to the crease. Webb swiftly allayed any fears of a collapse.

Qadir was able to bring up his third century of the season before Webb sent the ball sailing over the sight screen for six to seal the win.

Skipper Ahmed was delighted with the chase: "Immy [Qadir] proved his class once again. When he is in this kind of form you are not going to get him out."

"Ahmed [Khawaja] has also adapted very well to playing a supporting role and staying at the crease, with less pressure on him to lead from the front."

"We have had our share of disappointments this season but we really show what we are capable of with performances like this. It is a great feeling to be safe."

Promotion sealed by Coldwell's men

HARLOW Cricket Club's fourth XI secured successive promotions with a win over Fives & Heronians.

Fives won the toss and elected to bat.

Sarwat Ali (5-26) tore through the line-up for his fourth five-wicket haul in as many games. Close (3-14) and Taha Khan (2-55) did the rest, as Fives were all out for 100.

It took only 18 overs for Harlow to reach the target for the loss of three wickets. Callum Sykes made an unbeaten 39 and William Radbourne chipped in with 16 not out.

Captain Rob Coldwell is looking forward to a sterner challenge next season: "We were clinical today, with some outstanding catching. Bowling has been our strength this year and several opposing skippers have commented on this."

"The team spirit is one to be proud of. The players deserve this and some recognition for their achievements these past few seasons."

Harlow's second team must secure maximum points from their two remaining games to avoid the drop.

They lost at Southend-on-Sea on Saturday to leave them in peril.

Southend batted first and declared on 241-4.

Harlow were cruising at 98-1, but aumble in the middle order meant that the side were dismissed for 182, Michael Prodger's 59 was the only notable contribution.

Harlow's third team hosted Fives and Heronians and put their opponents in to bat.

Fives lost wickets regularly and were all out for just 101 from 34 overs.

Harlow achieved the target in 29 overs for the loss of five wickets. "We remain top of the table by 14 points and are well placed for promotion with two games to go," said skipper Dave Whellams.

Solomons' top time at memorial race

HARLOW Running Club member Richard Solomons completed the Mel Batty 10K at Grays.

Named after the top British distance runner of the 1960s, Solomons finished in 29th place out of 122 finishers in 43 minutes and 40 seconds.

He was followed home by Andy Kinney, who was 97th in 56.16.

Meanwhile at the Gunpowder Park run 5K at Waltham Abbey, Brendon Maclean was 24th out of 103 finishers in a superb personal best (PB) time for the distance of 22.37.

At the Chelmsford Park run 5K, David Page came home 132nd out of 335 finishers in 24.22s, just ahead of wife Janice (137th in 24.31).

Alan Wellbelove represented Harlow Running Club for the first time at the Great Notley Park run 5K. He was 84th out of 99 finishers in 34.55.

At the Mersea Island 5 mile race near Colchester, Paula Reynolds sealed 23rd out of 109 finishers. She was third fastest lady in a superb 37.23.

She was followed by Robin Lozeau (33rd in 39.07).

Town teams all set for title D-Day on final day

THE season looks set for a thrilling climax for the first and second teams at Harlow Town Cricket Club, with both sides on the verge of promotion.

And in a strange quirk of fate, it all could come down to them to the final games of the season in nine days' time when the two sides both play their title rivals Old Southendians & Southchurch.

The first team drew at home to Woodford Green.

Losing the toss proved crucial for Town against a side simply out to frustrate.

The Town openers Pat Yates (60) and Shiraz Ali (89) set the innings up with a superb stand of 115 before the former missed a rank full toss and was bowled.

Joe Holland (2) came and went quickly before Ali was joined by the in-form and consistent Ramya Upadhyay (48 not out).

The pair accelerated the innings, conscious of the need to set the visitors a tempting target and with plenty of overs to bowl at them.

After Ali departed, skipper Ashley Alderson (25) increased the pace before declaring on 236 from 49 overs.

The Woodford innings started slowly and once number three Rana Arslan (33) was dismissed they simply gave up all hope of chasing down the total or making any attempt at picking up more batting points.

Town reduced the visitors to 100-7 but the visitors held out to reach 142-8 to pick up two points.

Town accrued 11 points but will feel disappointed not to finish the game off.

Upadhyay (5-56) and Ashley Alderson (2-17) were the only wicket-takers, the other wicket being a run out.

Skipper Alderson said: "It feels like a loss, but I really don't know what else we could have done. We bowled well but the wicket was so good it was difficult to bowl them out when they had no ambition to make a game of it."

The seconds suffered similar frustration at Woodford Green as the hosts batted out for a draw to hinder Town's title charge for the second time this season.

Losing the toss Town were put in to bat on a sporting wicket.

Bilal Ali and Charlie Coleman took the bowling to the Woodford attack, scoring the bulk of the runs with 89 and 83 not out respectively as Town declared on 269-4.

In reply, Town tried to bowl out a defensive Woodford, but the game petered out to a draw with the hosts on 200-8.

Town need to beat Epping on Saturday to have a chance of securing a few bonus points to claim the title on the last day.

Town's third team dropped out of the top two after losing to Stanford-le-Hope by six wickets.

Town were dismissed for 174. Johan Cloete (66) and Alfie Elston (32) top scored.

In reply, Stanford's Neil Fuller won the game with 116 not out.

He was Town's chief nemesis as he had earlier taken 4-69, supported by Andrew Powley (3-33).

Town's fourth team also lost to Stanford-le-Hope by six wickets.

Town won the toss and elected to bat, posting 214 (Paul Smith 30, Sreerag Radhakrishnan 59, Dan Gleeson 31, Darren Wood (28) to seal maximum batting points.

In reply, Stanford recovered from losing their first wicket in their second over, to chase down the total in 38 overs for the loss of four wickets (Taylor Wood 2-20).

Young cup winners show club has bright future

(41) did well.

Harlow's fielding and catching was superb, especially one stunning effort by Khelawon on the deep mid-wicket boundary to remove the dangerous Shah.

John Tasker's leg spin was the pick of the attack.

He finished with 7-1-24-2. Ben Willis (2-21) and Reece Galvin (1-7 off four overs) were also excellent on the day.

"A thrilling day for all the Harlow spectators and a day to remember for all the boys that played and won," added Baulcomb.

It's king James the second as unbeaten Town rout Rovers

Great Wakering Rovers .....	2
Harlow Town .....	4
(Ryman League, division one north)

JAMES Smith bagged an early brace as unbeaten Harlow Town triumphed 4-2 away to Great Wakering Rovers on Saturday.

Smith struck twice to put Harlow 2-0 up after only six minutes.

On four minutes Smith struck his first goal after a cross from Jared Small found him in the area and his scuffed shot found the back of the net.

Two minutes later Smith added his second as he created space for himself in the penalty area and finished well with a low shot.

However, Wakering bounced back to make it 2-2 with goals through Stuart Hepburn on 13 minutes and Tony Jacobs on 34 minutes.

The first goal came when Harlow's defence fell asleep as a free-kick from the left found the head of Hepburn who made no mistake from 10 yards as he rose unchallenged to head past Ed Thompson.

Former Hawks player Jacobs levelled when he cut down the right flank and fired home.

Small restored Harlow's lead on 67 minutes. A Dave Cowley corner from the right saw Fabion Simms head towards goal and Small nodded it over the advancing Rovers keeper.

The scoring was rounded off on 74 minutes when Alex Read cured a superb free-kick into the net for Harlow's fourth goal.

The result saw the Hawks maintain their unbeaten record.

New signing Emmanuel Nwanze was an unused substitute for the Hawks.

The 20-year-old, who can play central midfielder or centre-half, has joined from Vanarama Conference side Welling United.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman has also signed Luke Cuthbert, who can play left-back or centre-half. Cuthbert will have to wait for international clearance before making his debut.

The 24-year-old has spent the last four years in the USA playing for Lee University in Tennessee.

Meanwhile, club skipper Darren Blewitt has re-signed for the club.

Right-back Ben Hart has left the club due to his work commitments but Harlow will hold his registration if his circumstances change.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman is happy with his squad now. He said: "The most important thing is we are still collecting points. We cannot keep a massive squad – it does not work. We were looking for a squad of 18."

Harlow have been drawn away to Ware in the first round of the Robert Dyas League Cup on Tuesday October 7.

Man U KO is one to cherish for Green

MK DONS star Danny Green celebrated one of the greatest nights of his professional football career as his team dumped giants Manchester United out of the Capital One Cup with a 4-0 win on Tuesday.

Green (26), from Harlow, came on as a substitute with about half an hour left and his side hanging on to a 1-0 lead at Stadium MK.

And he played a pivotal role, helping his side by engineering moves for the third and fourth goals.

He tweeted afterwards: "Football is a funny game! Unbelievable night for the club and players! A dream come true for myself!"

Coming against a side containing England's

Danny Welbeck, Spain international David De Gea, Mexico World Cup star Javier Hernandez and Northern Ireland international Jonny Evans among other stars, it could certainly not be labelled a weak United line-up.

The former St Mark's School student has enjoyed a career which has taken in Nottingham Forest, Dagenham and Charlton Athletic.

He joined the Dons initially on loan in 2013 before a permanent move the following year.

He signed a two-year contract after being released by Charlton in May.

Green might always point to scoring the winner in the 2010 League Two play-off final at Wembley, which made club history and secured promotion for Dagenham, as his best performance,

MAJOR UPSET: Danny Green, far left, celebrates with MK Dons team-mates after his side knocked Manchester United out of the Capital One Cup. Below, depressed United boss Louis Van Gaal with Ryan Giggs

but playing a part in the destruction of a United side which won the Premier League in 2013 will live long in the memory banks.

His Wembley winner for the Daggers helped him secure a move to the Addicks.

But it was at Harlow Town's close rivals Bishop's Stortford that he began his road back to the Football League after an injury-plagued spell at Forest.

He was talked into joining Stortford in 2008 by their boss at the time, former Arsenal star Martin Hayes, who was on the same FA coaching course as Green.

He has now enjoyed seven seasons playing in the Football League.

Hawks boss hoping for a Cup of plenty!

Harlow Town .....	4
Waltham Abbey .....	1
(Ryman League, division one north)

DANNY Chapman's Hawks will head into Sunday's FA Cup tie brimming with confidence after an eight-goal Bank Holiday bonanza.

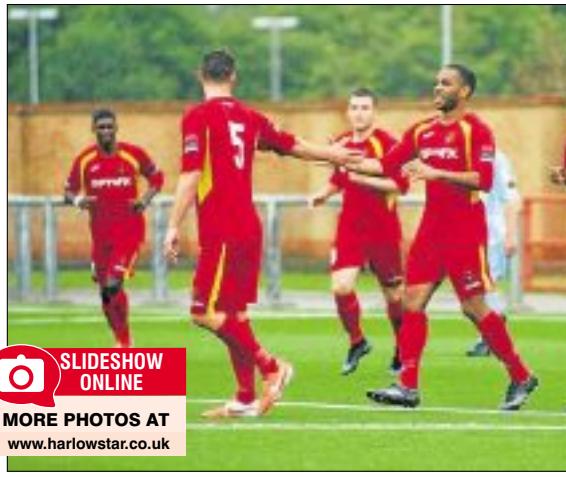

Harlow Town exploited weak defending as they thrashed close neighbours Waltham Abbey 4-1 at The Harlow Arena on Monday, with goals from James Smith, Alex Read, plus summer signings David Kendall and Dave Cowley.

It followed Saturday's win over Great Wakering Rovers.

Harlow visit Baldock Town in the preliminary round of the FA Cup. The tie will take place at Hitchin Town FC.

Chapman knows it's a great opportunity for the club to make some cash, with more than £2,000 prize money available for the visitors.

"We want to progress as far as we can to generate some money for the football club," said the Hawks boss.

KING DAVID: David Kendall (5) is congratulated after scoring Harlow's third goal against Waltham Abbey

(Pic: Kerigh Palmer)

"It is something to look forward to but the league is the most important thing. It's not going to be easy – they are top of their league. Everyone knows it's about banana skins in the FA Cup. They play two divisions below. We will show them the respect we would show Needham Market or anyone in our division."

Read's goal against the Abbey took his tally to six goals in six games and Chapman knows his prolific striker is already in the mood to get more than 50 goals this season – as he did last term.

"Alex is a goalscorer. It's all about confidence. He has a lot more to give. I don't think he has got anywhere near his maximum potential. He will get better and better as the season goes on," Chapman said.

The Hawks took the lead when Cowley fired home from the edge of the box on six minutes.

Smith doubled the advantage on 13 minutes, scoring his third in two games, when he finished after Abbey failed to clear a cross.

Kendall headed home a cross on 42 minutes to make it 3-0 and Read stretched the lead with a 50th-minute header.

Abbey reduced the deficit through a 71st minute header from Jason Hallett, but their good record against Harlow was ended.
